Justice Board Suspends Clubs

Nineteen organizations have been temporarily suspended from the Sacramento State College campus as they failed to submit to ASSSC Attorney General John Hetherington the proper forms concerning lists of officers, members and the state required non-discrimination clause.

Delinquent organizations include Association of Childhood Education, Anthropology club, Atelier club, Biological Association of SSC, Block S, Business Administration club, Campus Organization for Political Action, Cosmopolitan club, Council of Religious Organizations, Drama club, Interfraternity Council, Kappa Delta Pi, Los Avispanicos, Phi Mu Alpha, Phi Sigma Kappa colony, Psi Chi, Ski club, Society for Advancement of Management and Young Republicans.

No Privileges

According to Doug Decker, chief justice, these organizations have been temporarily suspended and cannot exercise any of the privileges enjoyed by organizations in good standing. These organizations cannot hold meetings on campus, cannot use campus publicity means, and cannot function as they have in the past as an organization in good standing.

The reason that campus organizations are required to turn in lists of members and officers, according to Decker, is the Co-curricular Activities offices takes from these forms names of students active in various organizations so that these names may be put on permanent files.

Go Inactive

If the required forms are not submitted to the attorney general by February 20 those organizations will be declared inactive for the rest of the semester. The required forms must include the fall semester officers and members and also those for the spring semester.

Also discussed by the Board of Justice at last week's meeting was the change in by-laws submitted by the Panhellenic Association.

Greek Change

Approved by the body was the change requiring of all rushees to have "at least a 2.0 overall g.p.a. to requiring an average equal to or higher than the freshmen women's average for the previous semester; however, at no time will the g.p.a. necessary for rushing be less than a 2.0."

Next meeting of the Board of Justice will consider the issue whether or not the ASSSC Student Council has the authority to take action on off-campus matters. Next meeting will be held February 20.

Massive Assault

UCLA Professor to Give Convocation Talk Monday

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, physics professor at the University of California at Los Angeles and well known upper atmosphere scientist, will address students and faculty at a 10 a.m. convocation Monday.

Chairman of the U. S. committee on the International Geophysical Year, Kaplan's subject will be The IGY: Massive Scientific Assault. The convocation will be given in the Little Theater, with classes released at the discretion of the faculty.

Evening Speech

Kaplan will present his talk again at 8 p.m. Monday in the Little Theater for those unable to attend the morning session.

A pioneer scientist in the physics of upper atmosphere of the earth, Kaplan was on leave from UCLA during 1957-58 to direct the research team efforts of hundreds of American scientists who took part in the intensive 18-month study of the earth, its atmosphere and solar system.

Film Thursday

A filmed appearance of Kaplan's television interview on Face the Nation will be shown on campus in the Little Theater at 1 p.m., Thursday. It is under the sponsorship of the Academic Enrichment Committee and the Physics Club.

The convocation is being arranged by Harvey Blend, SSC physics lecturer, the Convocation Committee in cooperation with the physics department and the National Science Foundation.

Probation Results Set

Students on probation as a result of fall semester grades will be notified by a statement designating this by March 1, according to Registrar Richard J. Warren.

Students are placed on probation if they fail to attain or maintain a 2.0 average on all units attempted at Sacramento State or at other colleges for one semester's work or for a maximum of three semesters without being recommended for disqualification.

Any student not sure of his status should consult the catalogue or have his record checked in 161 Administration, after February 20. Students with ES or EU grades from last semesters' work must remove these grades before the semester is completed or they will become automatic F's.

Two Films Set For Friday Run

Two foreign films—The Last Bridge and Windfall in Athens—will be shown Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater.

As a result of the Associated Students underwriting the film festival (previously sponsored solely by Kappa Delta Pi, education fraternity) the foreign film festival will be free to ASSSC card holders.

Subscriptions Available

For those without the ASSSC card, there is an admission fee of 75 cents at the door. Subscriptions for the remaining films are available at any performance or from the ASSSC business office, Student Lounge.

Starring Maria Schell, The Last Bridge won the International Critics' Prize and Best Actress Award in 1954. The

$68,000 of New Sound Equipment Installed in SSC Music-Speech

Professional sound equipment totalling $68,000 has recently been installed in the Music-Speech building for instruction in several drama, music and speech classes.

Complete equipment for each department includes a main control panel, three-speed turn tables, German Tel-Funken microphones, an Ampex tape recorder, and a remote control for the recorder. The music section also has a disc machine for making records.

Specific Courses

In the speech department, the instruments will be used for such courses as Speech 125, in which students will explore all aspects of production. Engineering at the control board, producing sound effects, and controlling voice levels through microphones will be made possible in the course.

According to Berwyn Collentine, assistant professor of speech, the equipment will prove excellent training for students seeking work in radio and television. Specifically,

6084 Students Register For Spring Semester

6 Per Cent Rise Over Last Spring

Preliminary figures released yesterday from the Registrar's Office indicate a 6 per cent increase in regular students for Sacramento State College for the spring semester over a similar time last year.

The unofficial count has 3526 students listed as regular, carrying more than six units, compared with 3328 students for the spring semester of 1960.

The decreasing trend in part-time students also held with 2558 registered for the spring semester of 1961 compared to 2676 registered at the same time last year. This is a decrease of 118 students and 4 per cent.

Totals of the limited students and regular students indicate a slim 1 per cent increase over last year. The total unofficial figures released have 6084 students registered for the spring semester compared to 6004 students for the spring semester 1960.

When 37 million public school children returned to classes this year they were welcomed by 135,000 too few teachers into 130,000 too few classrooms. In thousands of high schools there were no physics, chemistry, music, art or language courses. One out of every 14 teachers had a substandard teaching certification. —John L. Burns

Blood Bank Program-Drive Starts; Account Available to Entire College

Under the direction of John Platania, members of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity are kicking off their annual blood bank drive.

According to Platania the Sacramento State College blood bank account has been established in order to assure a supply of blood to faculty members, staff and full-time students and their dependents. While affiliated with SSC any person may use the bank without charge or obligation.

Working with the Student Health Center personnel, the fraternity members will contact students, faculty and staff for contributions.

Platania stated: "This program is set up primarily to have a list of available people to give blood when needed rather than a large reserve of blood already given by donors."

Appointments and scheduling may be made by contacting the Student Health Service, members of APO or Platania.

Activities Index

Inspection of File Urged

It was brought to the attention of The State Hornet this week that many Sacramento State College students are unaware that the Co-curricular Activities office maintains a card file on each student participating in campus activities.

These cards are used for completing the individual student's personnel record, for studying general trends in participation and for providing information to those organizations interested in students' participation in activities.

The material on these cards is compiled from officer and membership lists as well as from sponsor reports, according to Dr. Margaret McKoane, associate dean of students.

She stated that valuable information concerning the student may be overlooked. Dr. McKoane urges students, particularly seniors, to inspect their activities card before it is included as a part of their permanent personnel record.

Speech 18 will offer technical training in those fields.

Multi-Purpose

The music department's equipment will make it possible to record rehearsals, voices, and recitals, either on tape or records. Dr. Baxter Geeting chairman, division of humanities and fine arts, stated that the music listening program will also be benefited.

Located in the Little Theater, the drama equipment will enable the department to record plays, and possibly to start a library of performances. Students will also be able to record their parts in plays and correct any mistakes. Sound effects can be made in advacne and used during a performance.

One Man's Opinion

The legend is that all women love clothes, but my guess is that a door-to-door, early-morning canvass, when women are most likely to give with the truth, would turn up some pretty mixed reactions these days. Lots of sheer unadulterated love of clothes went out of the picture along with the little dressmaker and the long hours of co-designing and collusion at home. Clothes today are a weapon, a symbol, even a nuisance to be shopped for as fast as possible.

SSC Hosts Aggies; Edge Gators 58-57

Sacramento State College's Hornets, boasting a 4-1 record in FWC play, will host the aroused Cal Aggies tonight in the Hornet gym. Last weekend the Hornets made it a clean sweep of the slate by upending Chico 67-56 Saturday night and edging San Francisco State 58-57 Friday in a conference tussle.

Pacing the Hornet attack against the Wildcats was Les Kuhnz with 21 counters while John Dille and Bill Baker tallied 14 and 11 respectively.

Leading 33-28 at the half, Jim Caranica of the Golden Gators nearly pulled the contest out of the fire in the last half by scoring 18 of his 31 while propelling the San Franciscans into a brief 38-34 lead. The Hornets retaliated to take the lead at 44-42 and were never headed thereafter. Leading SSC was Ron Rohrer with 24 while Bill Whitaker added 13.

February 3, the Hornets fell victim to a strong Nevada quintet at Reno 63-56. Forward Brad Baraks paced the Wolfpack with 31 points.

January 31, Chico State fell before the Green and Gold in the SSC gym 76-56 in a non-conference affair. The preceding day the Hornets downed San Francisco State in Cox gym 63-49. Except for the opening 10 minutes of play SSC was in command for the remainder of the contest.

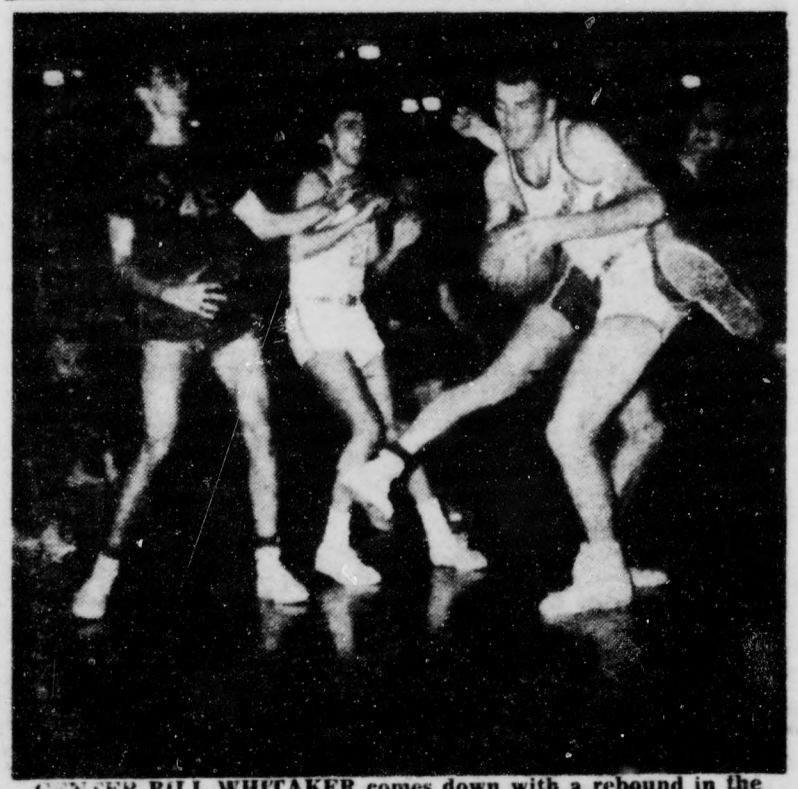

Leading the well balanced attack was Kuhnz' 17 while other contributors were Dille with 15, Rohrer 12 and Baker tallied 11.

"A GUIDE FOR THE DATELESS"

With the cost of dating rising higher and higher it is no wonder that so many of us men are turning to discus throwing. Naturally, we would prefer nuzzling warm coeds to flinging cold discs, but who's got that kind of money? Prices being what they are, the average man today has a simple choice: dating or eating.

Unless the average man happens to be Finster Sigafoos.

Finster came to college with the normal ambition of any average man: he wanted to find the prettiest coed on campus and make her his. He looked long and carefully, and at last he found her—a tall job named Kretchma Inskip, with hair like beaten gold.

He asked her for a date. She accepted. He appeared at her sorority house that night, smiling, eager, and carrying a bouquet of modestly priced flowers.

"Now then," said Kretchma, tossing the sleazy flora to a pledge, "where are we going tonight?"

Finster was a man short on cash, but long on ideas. He had prepared an attractive plan for this evening. "How would you like to go out to the Ag campus and see the milking machine?" he asked.

"Ick," she replied.

"Well, what would you like to do?" he asked.

"Come," said she, "to a funny little place I know just outside of town."

And away they went.

The place was Millionaires Roost, a simple country inn made of solid ivory. It was filled with beautiful ladies in backless gowns, handsome men in dickeys. Original Rembrandts adorned the walls. Marlboro trays adorned the cigarette girls. Chained to each table was a gypsy violinist.

Finster and Kretchma were seated. "I," said Kretchma to the waiter, "will start with shrimps remoulade. Then I will have lobster and capon in maderia sauce with asparagus spears. For dessert I will have melon stuffed with money."

"And you, Sir?" said the waiter to Finster.

"Just bring me a pack of Marlboros," replied Finster, "for if ever a man needed to settle back and enjoy the mild beneficence of choice tobacco and easy-drawing filtration, it is the shattered hulk you see before you now."

So, smoking the best of all possible cigarettes, Finster watched Kretchma ingest her meal and calculated that every time her fetching young Adam's apple rose and fell, he was out another 97¢. Then he took her home.

It was while saying goodnight that Finster got his brilliant idea. "Listen!" he cried excitedly. "I just had a wonderful notion. Next time we go out, let's go Dutch treat!"

By way of reply, Kretchma slashed him across the face with her housemother and stormed into the house.

"Well, the heck with her," said Finster to himself. "She is just a gold digger and I am well rid of her. I am sure there are many girls just as beautiful as Kretchma who will understand the justice of my position. For after all, girls get as much money from home as men, so what could be more fair than sharing expenses on a date?"

With good heart and high hopes, Finster began a search for a girl who would appreciate the equity of Dutch treat, and you will be pleased to hear that he soon found one—Mary Alice Hematoma, a lovely three-legged girl with sideburns.
